they are giving now because they earmarked the funds for the Penal Institution.

SENATOR MARVEL: O.K. We discussed this..a copy of this just now and there won't be any answer for us coming until tomorrow. So we will just have to hold up the amendment. That's all I can tell you right now. I also can say that, Mr. Cartwright has always protested the fact that he doesn't have enough money. I don't think he will ever have enough money.

SENATOR BARNETT: Well, I'd rather not hold up the bill, Senator Marvel, if we do find that there is a mistake through his comments could we then properly try to make the amendments on Select File. I don't want to hold it up, and it doesn't make any difference now, huh? But I would say that if this was proper, and I think that your staff should have an opportunity to answer it. I think that if this is what is true, then we should make an correction on it. And therefore, what do you think would be the best thing to do.

SENATOR MARVEL: Well, I don't know how you would ever satisfy Mr. Cartwright. So I am not in a position to promise that if you vote for an amendment, that he then will be satisfied right afterwards. I would much rather hold up the amendment and wait until we get an answer, and then try to battle it out. Because I would not want to commit myself to support requests from Mr. Cartwright. I think he is doing a reasonable job, but he is a typical agency head who has a voracious appetite. Put it that way.

SENATOR BARNETT: All right, if I'm not going to hold anything up, then I would say that we withdraw this amendment to give the staff, or give this amendment to us tomorrow. After your staff has the proper time to answer the charges.

SENATOR MARVEL: OK. That's fine. What I was trying to do was to get the amendment read, and any discussion that we could answer now, so that we then would be prepared tomorrow to proceed with the 1053.

SENATOR BARNETT: Well, Im

agreeable with that. I just think it's..if these charges are unfounded then I think that it is up to us to prove.

PRESIDENT: Senator from Milligan. Senator Maresh.

SENATOR MARESH: Mr. President

CLERK: I have a motion to adjourn.

PRESIDENT: Well, we will let Senator Maresh have his word first.
